

MEMORIES OF PAST & PRESENT SHOPS & BUSINESS in FRECKLETON

INTRODUCTION

The information in this document is made mainly of personal memories of Freckleton history group and researched information from local historian Peter Shakeshaft and the personal reflection of the late Richard Spencer.

The document was compiled by a small group of members from Freckleton History Group, in association with Love Freckleton Library Friends Group.

The document is in three sections; the first part reflects on the history of the village and shops and business names from the past and includes buildings that once where shops and are today houses and some shops and business and buildings that are no longer in Freckleton. The second part reflects on the Programmes from Freckleton Club Day Sports Committee from 1962 to 2024, as part of the history of Freckleton Half Marathon, the oldest half Marathon in Great Britain in its sixtieth-year celebrations. The third part of the document reflects the shops and business in Freckleton in 2025.

The document was compiled by L. Dewhurst, P. Knight, S Hunter and other members of the Freckleton History Group in association with Love Freckleton Library Friends Group © Freckleton History Group 2025.

FRECKLETON INFORMATION

Background History from the Domesday Book to the 1950's

Freckleton is one of the oldest Fylde villages and was mentioned in the "Domesday Book"

The spelling then was FRECKULTON, said to be an Anglo-Saxon name, the interpretation is (an enclosed place). Geologists state that Freckleton is over 2000 years old and dates back to the Ice Age. The Doomsday Book from 1066 was given to the country by William I. Freckleton consisted of four carucates of land and arable soil, roughly 400 hundred acres. The land was vested/given to the control of Sir Richard de Freckleton, a French Baron. It shows that in 55BC when the Romans came to Britain, Kirkham was used as a Fort and Freckleton as a Port to unload their supplies. In what was then was a land locked lake. Various invaders followed the Romans, Scots, Norse and Danes. What we now call the Church Commissioners, owned most of the land. Benedictine taught agriculture to the inhabitants from the time when Freckleton was a seaport. Up to the 1940's war years, agriculture was the staple industry. When Sir Richard de Freckleton (the French Baron) officially given the land by William I, this at least gave Freckleton a place of standing within the County of Palatine. The Civil War of 1644 between Charles I and Oliver Cromwell many troops of both sides were housed within the Freckleton area and the fierce battle took place on the marshland.

Freckleton became a port long before Preston. Employment was easy to find within the quay between Naze Point and Freckleton Shipyard. Sailcloth was woven, rope making, ship building, cotton weaving and agriculture. Ships sailed to and fro between Liverpool, North Wales, Ireland and the Isle of Man to Freckleton, bringing merchandise which was distributed throughout the Fylde area. Discussions took place for a bridge to be built from Hesketh Bank to the south of Guides House. Due to the manufacturing within the village a rail link was proposed to connect to the Kirkham line and onwards. Of course, the bridge and the rail line never materialised. Should this have happened Freckleton would not now be a medium size quiet village.

Remember most of the land was owned by the residents of Freckleton not feudal landlords. Few places in Palatine/Lancashire could compare with Freckleton.

SHOPS AND BUSINESSES – EARLY YEARS

The Cyclists Arms opened 1871 originally named the Tewitt Arms and also known as the lower Coach and Horses. The licence was held for 67 years and premises were destroyed in 1943 by the plane crash.

Forsyth's Lighting Shop this was located next to the Plough Hotel on Lytham Road. This property is now a private house. Dennis Forsyth was the owner and shop closed and moved to Clifton Street Lytham. This shop closed in early 2024!!!

T Fisher – Sweets and Barbers Shop opened in 1902. The owner was Tom and his wife together with his sister-in-law Miss Throp. It was a rendezvous for most children attending the National School. It is now THE FAMILY SHOPPER.

The Mariners Arms - situated near the shipyard at Poolside. Opened 1790, closed in 1843, was then used as a farm and is presumably a private house.

The Lamaleach Arms – Lytham Road opened in 1810 and was owned by Mr. W Carter ancestor of the Hankinson's (the licensee of the Coach and Horses)

The Bush Arms - opened in 1803 situated down The Bush area of Freckleton. It was closed in 1910 and sometime after the land was purchased by British Aerospace.

The Stanley Arms - opened in 1869 and in its later days the licensee was a Mrs Brindle who was known to all and sundry as the Merry Widow. Closed in 1922

The Plough Hotel - corner of Lytham Road and Kirkham Road opened in 1862, has had many landlords over the years and is still the local today.

Coach and Horses - opened 1862 to present day. Mr John Hankinson was the Landlord for many years.

Balderstone Mill - Lytham Road built 1880 The new Mill - weaving and spinning employed over 100 locals and, in its heyday, had 320 cotton weaving looms. It was established by the Sowerbutts family, then John Bibby and Sons. Prior to demolition it was owned by the Birtwhistle family. It closed in 1980 and was bought by H&D Marquis, who built private houses on the vacant land.

Beck Grocers Shop - privately run by the Beck family. Situated on the corner of Lytham Road and Clitheroe's Lane (now the Post Office/Spar shop). The Beck family moved to St. Annes and purchased the St. Ives hotel.

The Co-op Chemist - situated on Lytham Road where Goa Lane adjoins. The property is now owned by Mr. G Parker.

The Cloggers Shop- this shop stood at the entrance to Kirkham Road. Most locals wore wooden clogs, especially the mill workers. The clogs needed the irons replacing regularly. The shop was owned by the Rawstrone family, Thomas, his wife Margaret and his son Paul. Margaret always managed to elicit news from all the customers!!! Some of the residents who became over talkative on any subject, people would say (thare worse than Maggie Clogger)!!! This business was in the centre of Freckleton

The Ship Inn - Bunker Street opened 1677 and is still open today a very busy pub!! In its early years the bargees would spend all their money here!!! It is one of or maybe the oldest pub in the Fylde area.

THOMAS CARTMELL - he was the village chimney sweep and began his work around 1915. A very busy man due to the fact that most people had a coal fire in those days. He lived with his family in Lower Lane.

BONNEYS BUTCHERS - from 1864 and was taken over by Tom Snape and is still open business today.

LORD DERBY - owned businesses and property within Freckleton. Namely the Cornmill, Waverly House, Dibbs Cottage and Dibbs Hall.

THE SHIPYARD - in the early 1800's ship building and repairs was the mainstay of this business. Many boats and ships built, including 18 sharking vessels, sailing yachts and flat bottom barges. George Wyle Rigby and Robert Rawstrone started the business and this was continued by John Rawstrone. Eventually Allinson Brothers purchased the business, servicing boats and lifeboats around the North West. Still a going concern.

GREGSON'S TV SHOP - Preston Old Road very little known about it. Opposite the Old Jail

ROPE WORKS – Preston Old Road making ropes for agriculture and shipping these ropes were often made in the gardens of locals, who obviously had very long back gardens!! The Rope Works was owned by the Hall family Opposite the current Sports and Social club

NORCROSS'S SHOP AND STORE - famous for its wattle gable end work this was opposite the current Sports and Social Club

COATES'S GROCERY AND CONFECTIONERY SHOP - corner of Preston Old Road and Kirkham Road

2024 became LUPO'S, has previously Ledra (Greek) Caravella, (Portuguese) Lorenzo's (Italian)

POST OFFICE - on Lytham Road near Balderstone Mill opposite the Holy Trinity Church Mrs Aran Gregson was the post mistress and then by Mr. William Banks. Now a private house.

BICYCLE REPAIR SHOP - dates to follow situated opposite the Nisa Local and is now Freckleton Tanning Shop

H&D MARQUIS - Builders on Bush Lane the business was founded just after World War 2 and over the years built many properties within the Freckleton Area. Many employees of Marquis left their employ and began their own businesses. RM Rigby Builders, GPR – Grenville Parker Joinery Company, Maurice Battersby Builder, whilst others worked for Marquis Builders for most of their working life. Syd Dewhurst, Jim Bannister, Jack Fox, Billy Banks to name but a few.

THE ORIGINAL CO-OPERATIVE SHOP - in the centre of the village opposite the Village Green

LAMP OIL JOE - Joseph Rawstrone lived on Lytham Road near the entrance to Goa Lane. Supplied villagers with Lamp Oil and supplied the school with children – he had eight of them!!!

CHIP SHOP - opposite the old Post Office on Preston Old Road. It was a wooden building proprietor was Mrs T Swan-Rawstrone for many years. Known locally as Jane Swan Chippy. She was a kindly soul who all the villagers knew and loved.

VILLAGE GREEN CENTRE - an annual Pot Fair was held here and on Club Day in June travelling fairs would appear for a couple of nights. Employing casual labour.

ROBERT RAWSTRONE'S GROCERY SHOP AND BAKERY - in 1880 the central position sited where the Old Post Office stood on Preston Old Road and towards the beginning of the 20th century it was TANNING YARD - site of where the Sports and Social Club now stands Tanning of hides, it was known locally as the SKIN YARD. Hundreds of hides were processed by the Wignall family who employed 10 to 12 workers. A very smelly place to work!!!

THROP'S WHOLESALE FRUIT AND VEG - Kirkham Road Freckleton this business was managed by Ike Throp for many years employed many locals. Michael Threlfall Transport Business now occupies the site.

ERNEST IDDON'S WHOLESALE FRUIT AND VEG - Clitheroe's Lane a very old Company based in Freckleton, started in the 1800's employed many locals

WHITTLE'S RETAIL FRUIT AND VEG - Preston New Road

TOWNSEND'S FRUIT AND VEG - Preston New Road

Reggie and Bernard Townsend owned this business. It was sold in the 1980's houses now stand on this site Greenacres.

Stephen R Baxendale Funeral Director - Kirkham Road

The Old Smithy - Kirkham Road

The Rayton family owned this business for many years. The building was demolished to make way for the bypass. The anvil is now sited in the Memorial Gardens.

Freckleton Marsh Toll House - owned by Joseph Whiteside. He collected the toll i.e. money in a dolly tub!!! The toll ceased in 1927 when Preston New Road was opened.

Freckleton Sports and Social Club - built on the site of the old Tan Yard on Preston Old Road.

The structure was built by H & D Marquis in the 1960's.

The Water Mill - Lower Lane/Preston Old Road (Dow Brook)

A working mill from 1427 - in 1882 William Hoddleston sold the mill for £350 and it was demolished, this was to allow more effective drainage of the Marsh area well known throughout the Fylde area. Farmers brought their corn for milling from surrounding areas. The Spencer family were the last full time Millers. Unfortunately, one of the Spencer family (George) caught his scarf in the machinery and was unable to free himself. Probably the only casualty whilst the mill was working.

Sail Making - many large buildings within Freckleton stored Sail cloth. This supplied the many ships constructed at Ship Yard and also repairs were made on damaged sails.

Farming

Freckleton was a farming area. Farmers wives and daughters baked bread etc. grew vegetables and reared chickens, supplied eggs. Cattle supplied meat and milk. A necessity, as retail shops did not exist until much later.

William Parkinson - Rose Bank, Clitheroe's Lane.

A glazier and painter and decorator.

H T Whittle - 24 Preston Old Road

Painter and Decorator

The Guides House – Hostelry

a public house at the end of Guides Lane. The guide escorted people across the River Ribble and low tide to Hesketh Bank.

Coal Hill Works - Poolside

Boats and barges unload coal and slack from the pits in the Wigan area here. The coal merchants in Freckleton were the Banks, the Rigby's and the Halls. Mr Harry Hall was one of the coal merchants.

A result of the coal trade in Freckleton the only street in Freckleton was Bunker Street which had connections with this trade. Many of the bargees occupied the terraced houses in Bunker Street.

The merchants travelled the Fylde area, selling the coal.

J S Barlow - Lytham Road

Family butcher and dairy farmer. John Barlow was the brother of Charlie Barlow who had the big band at the Tower Ballroom, Blackpool during the 1930's/40's. This was next to the Old Post Office.

Armstrong's - 22 Preston Old Road

Specialists in ham, bacon and coffee. They were known for their home baked bread.

Scott's - 10 Lytham Road (opposite the Holy Trinity Church

General draper and outfitter also traded at the Market Hall at Lytham

Shop at the end of Bunker Street

Gornall's General Grocers Well known for the best homemade pies in Freckleton

Lonsdale's – Bush Lane

GPR Joinery - Bush Lane Grenville Parker began this business in the late 1960's having been employed by H & D Marquis

H & D Marquis - Green Lane

Renown builders Many houses in the Freckleton Area were built by "Marquis "Nowadays houses built by Marquis are most certainly advertised as such!! Many employees having worked and served their time as apprentices then started their own business i.e. R M Rigby's, G P R Joinery just to name a couple. Many remained employed by “Marquis” for their entire working life. Syd Dewhurst, Jim Bannister, Jack Fox and Billy Banks to name but a few.

SHOPS AND BUSINESS IN FRECKLETON 1960'S -2024

May 2024 – I have been researching and updating the history of Freckleton Half Marathon for the Freckleton Club Day Sports Committee as this year we celebrate 60 years of hosting the Half Marathon making it the oldest Half Marathon in Great Britain.

I have been able to look at all the Programmes going back to 1962, when the Club Day Sports Committee was formed after it was handed over from the Freckleton Parish Council. The same year Freckleton procession was handed over to the Freckleton Churches now known as the Three Churches Club Day Committee.

In the programme from 1965 onwards adverts for local business and shops started to appear, many of the shops have remained in the same buildings with the same family running them, whilst others have changed ownership and what products were sold. Some of the shops and businesses are no longer functioning and they were as follows: -

KATHA'S INDIAN EATS AND TREATS- Freckleton. Authentic Indian and artfully created

Indian inspired foods cooked with love, served with care. Food and service for all occasions: Whether it's a cosy gathering at home, a birthday buffet, an anniversary party, a community event or a business lunch, we can tailor a service, including pleasant and professional staff, suitable for the occasion. Bespoke Menus:

Indian foods are versatile and adaptable to different palates, dietary preferences and occasions. So, when you approach us, we will work with you to create a menu that suits your requirement. We offer everything from a 3-course buffet to live street food counters, as well as Indian-inspired afternoon teas. Quality Is Our Priority: We use high quality ingredients and make everything from scratch. We even grind our own spices in small batches to ensure every dish we make for you delivers rich, layered flavour and speaks to you.

From time to time, we also organise group cooking demos, host pop up events locally and offer food delivery.
